Use Aluminum in Construction of New Boom for Steam Shovel

Greater efficiency and economy in steam shovel operation are the advantages claimed for a new aluminum boom for a steam shovel recently completed by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. for use in levee work along the Mississippi.

The 150-foot boom is scheduled to be put in use for the first time this week. Since it is an innovation in boom construction for large shovels, the success which it meets will be of interest to contractors throughout the country.

By substituting the light-weight boom, only one-third as heavy as steel, for the ordinary steel boom, engineers of the McWilliams Dredging Co. of Chicago, for whom the boom was made, hope to be able to add two yards to the capacity of the bucket regularly used on their shovel with a 150-foot boom.

with the same amount of power. The aluminum boom is designed to handle an eight-yard bucket where the steel boom of corresponding size handled only a six-yard bucket.

Although the cost of the aluminum metal is four times that of steel, engineers estimate that the boom will be able to pay for itself through the extra capacity of the bucket it can handle.

Should the aluminum boom become generally used in shovel construction, the use of longer booms on nearly every style of shovel may be made possible, as on many types the dead weight of the steel boom limits the length of boom to be used, engineers say.

Metal used in the new light boom is 95 per cent aluminum, four per cent copper, five-tenths per cent manganese and five-tenths per cent magnesium.

You break it—we fix it. Marion Welding Co., 132 Oak st.—Adv.

CUTTERS HUNT SEA VICTIMS

Pleasure Sloop Lost in Long Island Sound; Seven Believed Drowned.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 27.—Eight coast guard cutters searched Long Island sound today for bodies of the victims of the Sea Fox, a pleasure sloop, which apparently foundered Saturday night or Sunday morning, with the loss of four men and three women.

Members of the party were widely known in New York educational and medical circles.
The body of Mrs. Marcia Snedden, 25, a psychiatrist, washed ashore at Darien, Conn., last night, she was the wife of Donald Snedden, New York university instructor and owner of the Sea Fox, who is one of the missing. Members of the Snedden family charted an airplane at Bridgeport, Conn., to assist in the search.

Entertainers Aboard
One of those believed to have been aboard the 36-foot cabin sloop when the party set out from City Island, New York, Saturday, was Robert Johnston, 30, night club entertainer, whose wife, Muriel, his former singing partner, has sued Miss Adele Ryan for $500,000 for alienation of affections.

Miss Ryan, granddaughter of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, was at first reported aboard. Her brother, John Barry Ryan, said there was no truth to the report. He said she is in Europe.

So far as ascertained, other members of the party were:

Donald Snedden, 28, husband of Mrs. Snedden, an instructor at New York university, former Stanford university athlete and Pacific coast diving champion, former instructor at Harvard, the son of Prof. David S. Snedden of Columbia university, who was formerly commissioner of education in Massachusetts.

Mark Coyne, 28, of New York, an instructor at Riverdale country school.

Actress in Victim
Mrs. Florence Mendenhall, 28, former actress.

Robert Mendenhall, 29, her husband, a statistician at Columbia university, brother of Mrs. Snedden.

Miss Doris Dewey, 31, a psychologist at Bellevue hospital.

The Sea Fox was owned by Snedden.
Mrs. Snedden's body, in yachting attire and a life belt, was found floating in the sound, one mile off Collender's Point, Darien, by William P. Allen, a Stamford fisherman.

SOVIET SUBMARINE SINKS IN BALTIC SEA

All Hands Believed Drowned in Mysterious Accident; Officials Silent.

By The Associated Press.
LONDON, May 27.—Russian airplanes and warships today circled above the spot where Soviet submarine No. 9 of the Baltic fleet sank Friday in a pool of oil.

Although the Soviet government remains silent on the tragedy, dispatches from Riga, Latvia, said it was understood the craft went down after an explosion, presumably with all hands, about 100 miles from Helsinki, Finland.

Moscow dispatches said the submarine failed to rise after making a dive during maneuvers with other vessels of the fleet. Auxiliary ships were sent to the scene.

It was said, but was unsuccessful in attempts to raise it. Destroyers and planes stood by in hope of being of assistance.

The fact that the water's depth at that point is from 60 to 110 fathoms led experts here to say that it would be an extremely difficult task to recover the vessel. The number of the crew or the extent of the casualties was unknown.

Russia is believed to maintain a fleet of about eight submarines, 12 destroyers and three battleships in Baltic waters. Their activity in the Baltic was credited by observers here as explaining Finnish fears that a Russian flotilla was menacing their country.

PARTY FOLLOWS MEETING

ASKS UNEMPLOYED BE USED IN CLEANUP

Employment Agency Head
Appeals for Aid for Men
Out of Work.

Appeal to housewives to make part in the cleanup campaign being in its purpose, was made by Fred Scherff of the City Employment Service.
Wherever it is possible the employment agency head urges that men and women who are out of work, be employed to help in cleaning up the homes and yards. "Make it a two-fold proposition," he said

"clean up your premises for the Harding memorial dedication and in addition provide employment for some needy person."
A list of names of men and women who are out of employment are on file in the office of Scherff and a day's work or a half day or even a few hours work would be greatly appreciated. Any kind of work, any place and at a fair wage, would be welcome to these people, Mr.
Scherff said. The phone number at the office of the employment service is 2781.

THE GREATEST VALUE IN OLDSMOBILE HISTORY

NEW LOWER PRICE

$845

The new Oldsmobile for 1931 offers you the greatest value in Oldsmobile history—and Oldsmobile cars of past years have earned a nationwide reputation for sound value.

This statement is based on definite and provable facts, which you can check to your own satisfaction.

For example, the new Oldsmobile is equipped with the famous Syncro-Mesh non-clashing transmission—a feature heretofore found only in high-priced cars. It permits silent shifting through all gears . . .
from low into second, from second to high, and from high back to second, as desired. In addition, a new Quiet Second Gear, added to Oldsmobile's Syncro-Mesh transmission, ensures smooth, swift acceleration which rivals high gear performance in quietness.

Performance, too, is even more pleasing than in the past.
New down-draft carburetion brings increased power—with higher speed, faster acceleration, and greater smoothness. It also enables starting in cold weather quicker and easier. And a new carburetor-silencer assures quieter operation at all speeds.

Further, the new Oldsmobile offers finer coachwork. Body lines are long, low, and smart.
Fundamental advancements in engineering and construction make the new insulated Fisher bodies strong, quiet, and serviceable. And new appointments, together with smartly tailored upholstery . . . optional in moiré or whipcord . . . add to the luxury of body interiors.

An additional contribution to distinctive appearance is the new wheel equipment provided on all Oldsmobile models. Five wires or five demountable wood whheels are offered optionally—and at no extra charge.

These features, and others which you will see when you examine the new Oldsmobile, add to the quality and dependability of a car which has proved its exceptional merits in the hands of nearly a quarter of a million owners during the past three years.

This finer quality makes Oldsmobile a better buy than ever. Lower prices, plus added quality, make Oldsmobile's value irresistible.

AMERICAN LOOP TO NAME NEW PRESIDENT AT MEETING TODAY

William Harridge of Chicago Likely To Be New Head of Junior Circuit.

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND, O., May 27.—Barring unexpected opposition, William Harridge of Chicago will be named president of the American league, succeeding the late Ernest S. Barnard, at a conference of club owners today.

An unofficial consensus among the club magnates prior to the hurriedly called meeting was that Harridge, who has been secretary of the league for 20 years, would be named to lead the junior circuit at least until the regular December meeting when he would be elected for a full term of four years if still satisfactory.

Since President Barnard's death two months ago today, more than a score of names have been mentioned for the presidency, but that of Harridge was mentioned openly. It was understood that all the club owners were in favor of giving him a chance and that Kansas Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, approved such a choice.

Harridge, a quiet, unassuming person who has been behind some of the strongest fights the league experienced during the regime of the late Byron Bannock Johnson, broke into baseball because Johnson took a fancy to him and his ability. Twenty years ago, Harridge was assigned the task of routing American players over a certain railroad. He handled the job so well that Johnson hired him as his private secretary, an office he held until Johnson was forced out of office. When Barnard took the office in 1927, Harridge was named secretary of the league, an office he has held since.

There is such a thing as not caring enough about humanity as to gossip about it.

PAIR of bases on balls, one error and a single hit netted four runs for the Trinity Baptist nine yesterday in the first inning of the game with St. Mary and that was enough to hand the Irish their first beating of the season and leave Trinity deadlocked with Calvary for the leadership of the No. 1 Sunday school league. Trinity added one run to its total later in the game but it wasn't necessary for the best the Irish could do was cross the Trinity home plate twice in the seven innings.

Clark Loses Again

In other games played in the same league John Clark's Epworth No. 1 team took another beating, this one at the hands of the fellow Epworth team, The Seniors. The score was 5 to 3. Lee Street didn't get its run making machine functioning against the Lutherans and dropped a 1-0 decision, their second straight loss. Calvary Evangelical kept its jinx working against the Epworth Bishops and handed them a terrific pasting, the final count being 11 to 1.

Given the four run lead in the first inning to work on, Hap Applegeth hurled a good game for the Baptists, setting St. Mary down with three hits. He was never in danger of losing the game at any time. The brilliant infield of the Baptists clicked in perfect fashion.

One Weak Inning

Gene Gunder turned in a good game for St. Mary on the mound but was not given the support generally accorded Irish hurlers. Gunder's only weak moment was in the Boston has been a tough customer for most of the National league's clubs this season, but the Giants have gone right along handing the Braves one setback after another.

The count now stands 7 to 3 for New York as the Giants, a bit behind in their race with the St. Louis Cardinals, scored two shut-out victories yesterday to regain their old position of being a half game ahead of the Cards by one method of counting but a few points behind in the percentage.

Carl Hubbell won the first game 3 to 0, and Bill Walker the second 6 to 0. Hubbell gave the Braves only two hits while Walker allowed eight.

Cards Hold Top

St. Louis held its place at the top of the standing with some difficulty, winning a wide-open slugfest match from Pittsburgh 11 to 9. The Pirates broke loose in the eighth inning and threatened to take the game as they scored five runs to go ahead but the Cards came back with six in the same frame. The defeat dropped Pittsburgh into sixth place as the Philadelphia Cubs had little trouble taking two games from Cincinnati, improving their position in fourth place until they are only a half game behind Boston.

Bob Smith injured the first game, winning 7 to 2, on an eight hit job and Ed Baecht and Charley Root divided

STREET FAILS TO HALT DROP

Stocks Reach New Lows Despite Action To Halt Bearish Raising.

The Associated Press, New York, May 27.—Despite the action to halt bearish raising, the stock market continued its downward trend today. The general list of stocks closed at new lows, with the Dow Jones industrial average falling 15.25 points to 150.30. The market was characterized by a general lack of interest and a widespread feeling of pessimism. The volume of trading was light, and the market was largely unresponsive to the efforts of the Federal Reserve to stabilize the situation. The decline was particularly sharp in the afternoon, as investors continued to sell off their holdings in a panic. The market's performance today was a stark contrast to the previous day, when a brief rally had been seen. The overall sentiment remained negative, with many investors expecting further declines in the coming days.

The peak of the season will be reached the latter part of this week and next week when pineapple for canning will be featured. No prediction as to what the price might be at that time, was being made by dealers. Cantaloupes were also cheaper today, the supply is becoming larger and dealers were quoting a price of from 15 to 20 cents today, a drop of five cents under the price of yesterday.

GRAIN PRICES MOVE HIGHER

Report of Crop Belt Rains Fails To Exert Bearish Influence.

By The Associated Press, CHICAGO, May 27.—Despite rains in the American northwest, wheat prices averaged higher early today. Drought reports from Canada continued, and Kansas crop advices were adverse. Opening at 4¢ off, to 4¢, wheat afterward held near to the initial range. Corn started at 1¢ decline to 4¢ advance and subsequently fluctuated but little.

Indications that moisture relief had been general in South Dakota, amounting to a cloudburst in some places, tended to ease the wheat market at times, but rallies were numerous. Believers in higher prices gave particular attention to fresh reports that in portions of the Panhandle, western Kansas and parts of western Nebraska there had recently been serious deterioration of winter wheat prospects. Evident low vitality of the crop in sections named was said to show urgent need of cool damp weather during the next 10 days.

Complete absence of any North American wheat export business overnight was stressed by bears. Relative weakness of corn acted also as a drag on other cereals. Corn was responsive to favorable conditions for completion of planting. Iowa reports said cultivation of corn had started throughout much of the state, and that the stand generally was good. Oats followed corn.

NEW LEAGUE PROPOSED

Any Sunday schools in the city which are interested in entering a team in a proposed Junior League of football teams are asked to have representatives at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. at 7 p. m. Thursday, F. O. Rudolph, physical director of the Y, is considering the sponsoring of such a league in which boys of high school age or under will be eligible to compete.

KEEP KISSABLE

... WITH OLD GOLDS

OLD GOLDS were created to give you THROAT-EASE... as well as a more delightful tasting cigarette. But the makers also considered your breath, your lips, your teeth, as well as your THROAT.

They created a pure-tobacco cigarette... free of coriander and other greasy artificial flavorings* that burn into clinging, staining, breath-tainting vapors.

To avoid unpleasant aftermaths, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. Their clean sun-ripened, natural-flavored tobacco will be like honey to your THROAT. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

HERE'S THE PROOF*

Open up a pack of OLD GOLDS and smell the tobacco. Do the same with any other cigarette judge for yourself which has the natural, pleasant all-tobacco aroma. It's a favor to your family and friends, as well as to yourself, to smoke NATURAL FLAVORED, pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS.

Local Daughters of Union Veterans Lists Proper Uses of Nation's Flag

The usage of the flag is interesting in the approach of Memorial Day. Marion's Chapter of the Daughters of Union Veterans will have a display at home and in the city and wherever members are held.

These rules and cautions have been endorsed by the United States Army and Navy.

Tent Provides Rules

Harriet Beecher Stowe Tent No. 48, Marion's Chapter of the Daughters of Union Veterans, has arranged for publication of rules in order that Marion citizens become familiar with some of the more common usages of the flag before Memorial day.

Among the rules given for the display of the flag are these:

The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority.

When the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony or front of a building, the union or stars should go clear to the peak of the staff unless the flag is at half staff.

When the flag is displayed in any manner other than being flown from a staff it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against the wall, the field should be uppermost and to the observers left. When displayed in a window it should be displayed the same way, that is with the blue field to the left of the observers in the street. When festoons, rosettes or drapings are desired, bunting of blue, white and red should be used—but never the flag.

When used on a speaker's platform the flag if displayed flat should be above and behind the speaker. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk or to drape over the front of the platform.

On Memorial day the flag is displayed at half-staff from sunrise until noon and at full-staff from noon until sunset; for the nation lives and the flag is the symbol of the living nation.

When the flag is displayed in the body of a church it should be flown from a staff placed in the position of honor, at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman. If in the church or on the platform, the flag should be placed on the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation.

Do Not Dip Flag

Here are some of the cautions listed in the pamphlet:

Do not dip the flag to any person or thing. The regimental flag, state flag or other emblem will render this honor.

Do not place any other pennant or flag above, or if on the same level, to the right of the United States flag.

Do not let the flag touch the ground or floor or trail in the water.

Do not use the flag as drapery in any form whatsoever. Use bunting.

Do not drape the flag over the hood, top, sides or back of a vehicle or of a railroad train or boat. When the flag is displayed on a motor car, the staff should be fixed firmly to the chassis or clamped to the radiator cap.

Do not carry the flag flat or horizontally, but always aloft and free.

Do not use the flag as a portion for a costume or of an athletic uniform. Do not embroider it upon cushions or handkerchiefs nor print it on paper napkins or boxes.

Proper Salute

Do not use the flag in any form of advertising sign to a pole from which the flag is flown.

Here is the correct manner in which to salute the flag when it passes on Memorial day, or on any other occasion:

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. Those in uniform should render the right hand salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the headress with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in the moving column is rendered at the moment the flag passes.

Harold Bell Wright Story Star's Next Fiction Serial

Famous Author Writes Love Narrative with Setting in Middle West.

Harold Bell Wright wrote his first novel more than 30 years without intending that it be published. "That Printer of Udell's" was prepared for delivery as a serialized sermon in a small middle western city.

Friends urged the young pastor author to give his story to a larger audience. The book finally was published and Wright began his career as the novelist whose books achieved the greatest sale of any living writer.

His latest story, "Exit," will appear in serial form in The Star beginning Tuesday, June 2.

Although his success as a novelist was assured from the first story, Wright continued in the ministry until 1908 when poor health forced his retirement, devoting much of his time to outdoor activities and extensive travel.

"Exit," his first novel in three years, has its setting in a small mid-western city and is the love story of two generations. The central theme of the story is the presentation of life as a stage, a device which gives particular effectiveness to the development of the plot. "Exit" is being serialized for the first time. The opening chapter will appear in The Star Tuesday, June 2. Watch for it.

THE PENALTY of GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet, it is not at all necessary. Gray Hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incapable. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, color-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restores hair to its original color. No complicated "color plan," no danger of getting brittle, when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprising what successful, youthifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist and get rid of the "age penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you; if not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by ECKERD'S DRUG CO., Milwaukee, Wis.—Adv.

Auto Club Starts Drive To Aid Parking Problem

Organization Finds 11 Out of 14 Cars Parked in Business District Belong to Merchants and Business Men; Ask Space Held for Shoppers.

A campaign of parking regulation which is believed by members of the club will prove at least a partial solution to the downtown parking problem, has been launched by the Marion Auto club among the merchants and business men.

Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the auto club said yesterday the campaign was in part the result of a check made several weeks ago when it was found that 11 out of 14 cars parked in a certain district belonged to persons employed in the building and the cars were there from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m.

The campaign is in the form of an agreement now being circulated among the merchants and business men, to be signed and returned to the auto club.

The agreement follows:

"WHEREAS we, the undersigned, merchants and business men, each of whom owns, manages or operates a business in the downtown section of the City of Marion, recognize that the so-called parking problem of the City of Marion is caused in part at least by the all day parking of automobiles in the business section of the City of Marion, by ourselves and our employees;

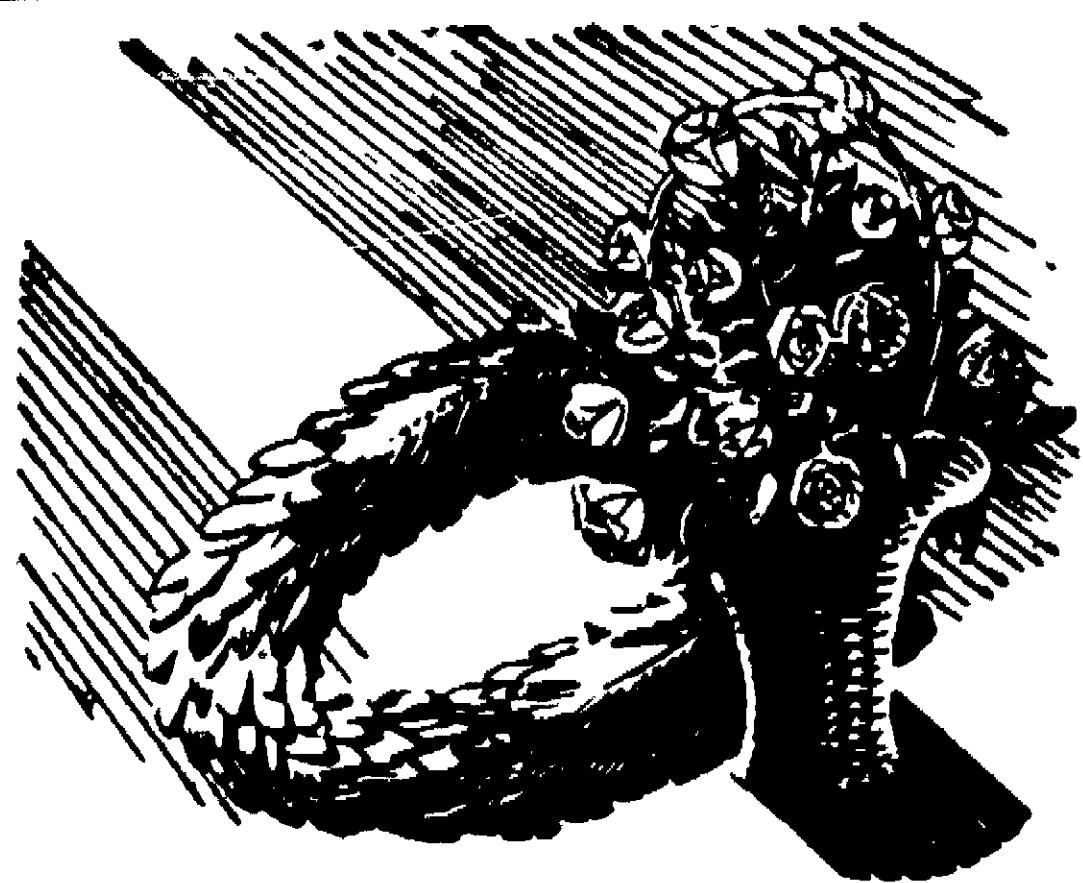

Does Your Mirror Tell?

A satiny, clear, beautiful skin depends largely upon the blood and the circulation, as do pink cheeks and bright eyes. Enrich the blood and the skin will take care of itself. Rich, red healthy blood nourishes the body and aids in protecting it against pimples and blemishes. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will help nature give you this power. Internal healthfulness will then reflect in your skin a natural loveliness. It is surprising how soon you feel the effects of this wonderful tonic. Where before that tired, laggard feeling was frequent, now the energizing influence of this herbal tonic brings back the pink cheeks, the bright eyes, the buoyant spirits. It tones up the stomach, is very efficacious in indigestion, and increases the appetite. All druggists sell.

Daily Proverb—"A broken friendship may be soldered, but will never be sound."

The treasurer of an Illinois county has received a $50 bill marked "For taxes." As a news story this is as rare as the late Mr. Dana's "dog biting the man."

A citizen of Taylorville, Illinois, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded for running his radio, full-blast, after 11 o'clock at night. The "worm" in the adjoining flat finally turned.

The Leow theatrical circuit, operating several hundred film houses, has put up the bars against screen advertising. In time, all of them may be seeing the light.

The British have invented a three-color movie film which will not burn. Some system to that! It not only will prevent life loss from film fires, but life loss from film-house panics due to the burning of films.

"U. S. Will Go to Arms Parley in Skeptical Vein."—Headline. It may be well, also, for Uncle Sam to see to it that, in returning, he doesn't leave large sections of his skin in Geneva like he did in London.

Monday was the hottest May 18 in Ohio since 1911. Happily, however, Tuesday did not emulate the May 19 of twenty years ago and show a couple of degrees more heat than the day before.

Thomas Alva Edison has abandoned his lists of questions to determine the "brightest boys." It may be just as well. Time may disclose that the "brightest boys" do not necessarily develop into the "brightest men."

According to a mail story from soviet Russia, the gigantic farm machine plant of the soviet at Rostov-on-Don is a failure because of the hit-or-miss plan on which it is operated. Not so surprising. Seemingly all Russia is run that way.

Burglars broke into the home of a resident of Bronson, Michigan, and made off with a cookstove and the kitchen plumbing while the owner slept. It's our guess that there isn't anything on that man's conscience.

When all is said, what is there in an unceasing endeavor to get within the rays of the publicity spotlight? Here's the usually careful and accurate New York Times referring to the senior senator from North Dakota as George P. Nye. Too bad, Gerald, too bad!

Frank R. Kent, political commentator, in an article on "The 1932 Presidential Sweepstakes," likens the chances of Governor Roosevelt, of New York, to those of William G. McAdoo in 1924. This isn't exactly what might be termed a boost for the governor.

While the number of motor car licenses in New York state increased but one per cent. last year, the number of accidents on the state's highways increased twelve per cent. The outlook for the survival of us true aristocrats of the land grows darker with each succeeding year.

America's Interest in India.

It is not surprising to hear that Mahatma Gandhi receives so much correspondence from the United States that he has been forced to enlarge his secretarial staff and office. From the beginning of India's concerted struggle for independence of some acceptable relationship to Great Britain, the United States has been in the front row of sympathizers. It was not many years ago that this country was in a similar position. Indeed, Great Britain has been urged to take a lesson from her struggle with the colonies in dealing with the Indian problem.

Mahatma Gandhi, who actually represents but a minor faction of the entire population of his land, is a convenient symbol of India's struggle to attain a relationship with Great Britain that would bear less the semblance of ownership. He possesses all the qualifications for the kind of social and political leader that makes the strongest appeal to the American imagination. He is an intellectual, an independent thinker, an idealist and, by no means least, one whose mind seems to have destroyed the importance of materialism. Opposites attract; the United States, whose political leaders are assuredly not of the Gandhi type, is attracted to the frail little man who twists the British lion's tail with such deadly earnestness.

Of course, it would be too much to expect that Mahatma Gandhi's American correspondence should be all of a scholarly, understanding kind. He also is receiving free advice, criticism, requests for endorsements, autographs, photographs and trinkets. But, if he is as intelligent a man as he is represented to be, he will not be disturbed by the chaff. Hidden in it, and running through it, is the real interest of another nation whose birthright is its tradition of independence.

Must They Always Go Up?

Secretary Mellon's most recent remarks on the federal taxation situation have as their theme: "More Revenue To Meet More Expenses." Mr. Mellon's job, of course, is only to provide the revenue—always more of it, unfortunately for his peace of mind.

The taxpayer's voice—and he sometimes wonders if it ever carries as far as Washington—usually is raised in protest of one kind or another. In the teeth of Secretary Mellon's revenue-raising ruminations it inquires sharply, if not very forcefully: "Why must the trend of taxation be always upward?"

Probably because, using the figure of a team of horses pulling the imaginative load of government, the taxpayer always pulls the extra load that the tax-payer shifts to him by slackening the close supervision over public expenditures he should maintain. The taxpayer, a little staggered by a billion-dollar congress recently adjourned, automatically leans into the traces a little heavier to keep the governmental vehicle rolling. Perhaps he's so busy pulling he doesn't have time to speculate on the possibility that the fellow on the other side of the wagon tongue could make things easier by cooperating.

Secretary Mellon says the continuing policy of American government should be the sound one of closing each year with a balanced budget. The deficit this year is placed, tentatively, at a billion dollars. Mr. Mellon, however, seems to look forward to a time when the balance will be preserved by a tax structure that always will supply enough revenue to take care of the expenditures of congress. Cooperation one way, in other words.

One wonders if congress—the tax-payers—and the tax-payers may not come to themselves one day and inquire in amazement: "Who started this thing anyway?"

Citizens arrested out in Mount Carmel, Illinois, who refuse to disclose in police court where they get their liquor, are put at work on the city stone pile. Our liberal element will just about hold that liberty is dead.

Another Racing Season.

The 500-mile Memorial day race held annually at the Indianapolis speedway marks the beginning of the automobile racing season. For months—since the conclusion of last year's race in some instances—owners, drivers and mechanics have been laying plans and working to compete for the substantial purse that goes to the winner of the event.

Automobile racing is dangerous under any circumstances, and particularly dangerous on the rough brick track at Indianapolis which encourages high speed and exacts a heavy penalty for mistakes. Every year, on the occasion of the races, there is, consequently, a vast deal of comment concerning the danger to human lives that the event presents.

Two lives have been lost already this year in the preliminary runs. It is to be hoped that there will be no more, but accidents during the close competition of the actual race are common, and more deaths would not be considered unusual. Injuries are expected in the normal course of events.

Criticism of the race is uttered. Naturally, the provocation is admitted to be very real for any one with a strong humanitarian instinct. But above its accidents, the Indianapolis race holds its place from year to year as a brilliant sports event and an occasion which provides a gruelling test for new developments of the automobile. To Indianapolis it is as important an event as the Kentucky Derby is to Louisville. It is an occasion to be enjoyed—not submitted to the cool survey of critical reason.

An organized campaign is being conducted against federal appropriations for local welfare projects. Without knowing the force behind it, it may be said that the advisability of such appropriations is debatable.

Briand Won't Resign.

Information that Foreign Minister Aristide Briand will not resign from the French cabinet is received gratefully in the United States. Americans have an impression, built up gradually through years of observation, that M. Briand is an invaluable pillar of the rising peace structure. They believe in his sincerity.

Following his defeat in the presidential election of May 13, M. Briand turned in his formal resignation to Premier Laval, who refused to accept it. There was much speculation as to the effect the defeat would have on M. Briand's prestige, but recent comment has been in the tone that his prestige is independent of defeat in a contest for an office he shouldn't have tried to get in the first place.

M. Briand is most important at the moment for his sponsorship of the Pan-European plan, which, without him, would lack vitality. Advocates of an economically united Europe believe it is his destiny to lead the movement through adversity to completion. They naturally are overjoyed at his defeat for the presidency, an office which would have tied his hands, and his decision to remain in the foreign office.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment estimates that the people of the United States are spending upward of $1,000,000,000 more for liquor annually than they did in 1914. What? Hasn't liquor kept pace with the price advance of about everything else during the last seventeen years?

The supreme court of the United States has held the act of congress authorizing the construction of the $155,000,000 Hoover dam to be constitutional, and thus there is nothing in the way to stop the reators out that way from outlining the subdivisions of sagebrush and prairie dogs.

So the Graham McNamees have separated, and thus another marriage, at the time termed "ideal," has gone upon the rocks! If luck doesn't soon change, the appellation, "ideal," in reference to marriages, will become recognized as a sort of a jinx.

The Michigan state senate has approved a bill for the deportation of alien undesirables which will bring alien communists within its scope. Why not? Why should those who rail at all law and the institutions of government not be made to feel the teeth of the law?

CARRYING FOUR BURDENS.

Editorial Opinion.

LIVING IN BLOCS.

American individualism has been a magic phrase since before the founding of this nation. It has been used to glorify the phenomenal growth of industry in America and to justify the failure of cities and states to govern themselves more efficiently. Rightly interpreted, this dominant current of individualism probably explains much that is good and much that is bad in American life.

It seems likely, however, that American individualism is a product of the economic and social conditions of early America, not a quality inherent in the race or races that populate the country. We may therefore expect that individualism to be replaced by something else whenever the pressure of new economic forces becomes strong enough.

Many signs point to the breakdown of that rigid individualism. Powers of government over private persons are greater each year. Powers of labor unions and employers' associations over their individual members are steadily larger. Organized blocs, often properly called lobbies, exert an ever greater power on government, replacing the influence of outstanding individuals.

Even more significant than the growth of group power in politics is the advance of functional blocs in social life. We buy our books very largely in terms of leagues and clubs, trusting to a few advisers to sift out the worthwhile. We sponsor the drama through leagues and guilds, acting as groups for a more certain result.

We find our diversion more and more through functional groups, based on allied interests, rather than through the neighborhood. Our children are ever more under the influence of group undertakings—Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A. school clubs, and so on—rather than the family as an individualistic unit.

Implicit in all this is a definite and very significant trend toward living in blocs, rather than as individuals. It is a trend neither to be deplored nor hailed with joy. It is merely a reflection of new conditions of life, larger than any one's ability to control. So far this socialization has been conspicuously absent in industry and in purchasing—the two fields where it has gained most abroad.

For better or worse, we are moving swiftly and inexorably into a new sort of living—a world in which our fathers would not feel at home—a world which will seem perfectly natural to our children. There is no standing still.

Dinner Stories.

The argument started over a kitchen utensil which the neighbor had borrowed, and one word led to another. "After all, Mrs. Briggs," said Mrs. Mean, "you needn't get so uppish. I often pays you back more than I borrowed."

"Yes, I can see that," retorted Mrs. Briggs. "This 're fryin' pan' ain't got no ole in it when you borrowed it."

First Party—"Madge is looking rather elderly, don't you think?"

Second Party—"Yeh! Her schoolgirl complexion seems to have graduated."

Wife, with newspaper—"Here's an Italian who has invented an earthquake announcer that works like an alarm clock."

Hub—"If we could get one that worked the other way about, we might get that cook of ours up on time."

Friend, entering office—"Hello, got some new furniture, I see, a swivel chair."

Proprietor—"Yes, the doctor said I must go around more."

"What are you running for, Bill?"

"Circus lion broke loose."

"Which way did he go?"

"Well, you don't s'pose I'm chasing the darn thing, do you?"

"I bought a new car and traded my old piano-player as the first payment."

"I didn't know they accepted piano-players as payment on new cars."

"They don't usually, but the salesman is a next-door neighbor of mine."

Husband, after morning round on a holiday—"Absolutely putrid course. Wish we'd never come to this rotten hole."

Wife—"How many did you lose by, dear?"

Laughter—Twin of Exercise.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It is not surprising to me that so many people go to the movies. The presence of crowds at places of entertainment is proof conclusive of the need for relaxation and fun.

Men and women go to such places to forget their troubles. Lovers go because there is no place else to be near each other. Worried business men and tired women go for refreshment and recuperation.

It is truly refreshing to listen to the spontaneous laughter. The bright and eager faces indicate that new and pleasant thoughts have been aroused. There is an atmosphere of happiness.

We need happiness. Nobody can brood and worry and scheme and plan, going backward and forward over the beaten paths of thought, without impairing health and vigor. A good laugh is like a spray of clear water over a dusty porch. It washes away the waste products of overworked brain cells. It leaves the mind cleared for better work, for normal action.

I am writing this just after seeing Charley Chaplin in "City Lights." It is excruciatingly funny, but clean and wholesome. Running through it is a thread of tender romance.

I left the theater with aching sides, but cleared brain. After a brisk walk to my home I sit here in cheerful mood, rested and refreshed, ready for every duty.

It is fatal to health to be too serious. The nerves must be relaxed and the blood made to circulate more freely. We need change from the regular routine.

To be able to play is one of God's richest blessings. We need not go to the other extreme, of course, but each of us should have an occasional recess from the hard school of life.

Why do we exercise? To set the heart to work and the blood to more rapid flow through the body.

Emotion does the same things to us. I mean pleasant emotion, of course. Interesting conversation, an exciting book, an interest-holding play, a good movie—it makes no difference what the experience is so long as it holds the interest and makes us think pleasant thoughts.

The sluggish circulation is stimulated to greater activity. The mind races along at unusual speed. The brain is cleared by the cleansing streams of blood.

In short, emotion of this sort does for us what exercise does. It is a twin to physical exercise.

Learn to play. Indulge the habit of play. Get away from the humdrum of life now and again. You will gain health and lengthen life by habitual, temperate indulgence in wholesome entertainment.

Neglected John Dalton.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

In this day of many inventions and rapidly multiplying discoveries, little is heard of John Dalton. Yet he stands out as an important figure in the history of science, since he did what needed to be done, at a particular time, to give science a new impetus. The chemical atom is indissolubly associated with his name and the pioneering work which he successfully carried out.

John Dalton was born near Cockerham, in Cumberland, England, in the year 1766. Although he was by no means brilliant at school, he was resolute and self-reliant. He cared nothing for pre-digested knowledge, and insisted upon working things out for himself rather than hearing them from others. He learned enough to convince himself that he knew how to impart knowledge to boys and at an early age opened a school for boys and girls. He secured a number of pupils, ranging from infants to youths of seventeen, and conducted his school for two years.

After giving up the school, he farmed for a while, all the time studying privately. After a time he was appointed assistant in a Quaker school, in which his brother was employed. Several years later, the school fell to John and his brother who carried it on for a time with success. He continued to study diligently, finally devoting himself to mathematics, in which he acquired considerable proficiency. At the age of twenty-seven he received the appointment of tutor in New College, Manchester. At the age of thirty, Dalton began to take a great interest in chemistry. So attached to the subject did he become that, after six years, he gave up his post at the college, in order to devote himself more completely to the study of chemistry.

It was not long before Dalton, who had a private laboratory, began to make a name for himself as a chemist. When he put forward his theory of chemical atoms, he continued to spread abroad. All the while, he continued to live very simply, earning his livelihood by tutoring. It was not until he was eighty-seven years of age that the government granted him a pension in recognition of his notable work.

As a signal honor, he was invited to lecture in the Royal Institute in London, after he had become widely famous. At this time Humphry Davy, afterwards so distinguished, was an assistant in the institution. At home Dalton spent the entire day in the laboratory, and usually worked there until 9 o'clock in the evening.

Dalton was a prolific writer, and read more than one hundred papers before the Literary and Philosophical society, of Manchester, of which he was president for many years. So high was the esteem in which Dalton was held as a scientist and man that 40,000 people visited the darkened Town Hall where his remains were placed prior to his funeral. Lost Faith in McClellan.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Governor Dennison counted himself fortunate in securing the services of General McClellan to command Ohio troops in the Civil war. McClellan had left the army and was a railroad official at Cincinnati when the war came on. Being a Pennsylvanian, he started to Harrisburg to offer his services to Governor Curtin, but stopped in Columbus enroute, and while there was induced by Governor Dennison to accept a commission with Ohio troops.

But the conflict had not really got under way before the governor had reason to doubt that he had secured in McClellan the man he thought he had. Governor Dennison was much concerned about invasion on Ohio's long border on slavery territory, as were other northern governors; they agreed that prompt action was necessary to save transmontane Virginia.

On May 10, 1861, the governor wrote McClellan about his fears and urged rapid work. He was forwarding Ohio troops to McClellan with remarkable rapidity.

McClellan replied courteously, but plainly showed his annoyance by referring to Governors Yates and Morton as "terrible alarmists." He advised delay in order not to offend the people of what was already beginning to be called West Virginia. Wait until West Virginia had made up her mind as to what she wants to do, was his advice. He had a lot of troops, but they were raw. "In heaven's name," he wrote, "let's organize these men and make them effective. Don't precipitate matters." His idea was to prepare to strike effectively when he did move.

He had intended to run up to Columbus to see the governor, but organization of his secret service was holding him. It was going to be a good one.

Whitelaw Reid quoted Governor Dennison as saying: "From the reception of that letter I dated the beginning of my doubts of McClellan's being after all a man of action." And Mr. Reid added: "The historian who shall seek to trace in details the steps to the strange catastrophe that subsequently befell the Army of the Potomac may indeed find in its suggestive hints."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, May 27.—The Vivian Gordon gang, tossed a stiff scare among the fifty and so frequently henned Broadway racketeers call "molls." As a rule they are graduates out of the cheap cabarets to become "girls" of gangsters and other neer-do-wells of the underworld.

They live on the mephitic fruits of not money in prosperity and when adversity comes as it always does, they resort to the profession to support some waster. The "important money" comes from blackmail, which they are in league with thymster lawyers.

Before the murder of the Gordon woman was estimated that Broadway philanthropists were paying at least a million a year to extortionate demands. Since then there has been a slowing-up of extortion. Faked breaches promise suits dropped seventy-five per cent.

Such feminine types are confined almost exclusively to larger cities. As a rule they are faded beauties, cosmetically rehabilitated, expressing the forced gaiety of an abandoned mistress. And existing on the sugared crust of the gangster's life is a bird of passage and always on the wing. One week she may have an apartment in the Seventies and the next she is in the Tenderloin hotel. She gives a strong impression of being "kept" by some well-to-do man she probably doesn't know, and is constantly making vague references to him.

Her talk is flimsy and sparks with phrases from the underworld. By heaving to the amorous line, the best she gets out of life is the temporary security of several months' lodging, a few fancy frocks, cheap jewelry and an occasional eye ringed in deep purple.

When arrested she poses as an "actress" and has numerous youthful pictures of her for reporters. In the end almost invariably she becomes a haggard, bloated drudge, more than likely to meet the tragic fate of Vivian Gordon.

Top hole in picturesque expressions: When a great critic saw the first savage painting of Pa l Gauguin, the French artist, he claimed: "Your foot is in the stirrup."

Imogene Wilson, enmeshed in a blood scandal of the White Way, changed her name to Mary Nolan, and won a deserved meed of praise in the movies. But in every story that happens in the city, she is the girl of Mary Nolan inspires an explanation of the real name is Imogene Wilson. Changing name is often an oblique bid for the publicity the gesture seeks to avoid.

A New York sophisticate in an essay speaks of "That funny smelling stuff called fair."

And the editor of the Dexter, Missourian Statesman coins this simile: "As busy as a mosquito in a nudist colony."

The English literati is hailing Corey H America's outstanding humorist and comparing him to their own Jerome K. Jerome. Ford was born in New York twenty-nine years ago, and aside from authoring a half dozen books his literary critiques under his pseudonym "John Riddle" in Vanity Fair blustered a number of literary lions. Happer, bright-eyed and as guileless looking as a fresh water college freshman.

For several years I have, at intervals, received anonymous and vituperative communications by way in typewritten distinguished. I am up-side down, and a staggering j. I variably wound up advising me "to go back to Pelican Center, you moss back." After a year in this hoop-dee-do scathing letters their sting. Yet I often wondered about the identity of this epistolator. Today he called revealed himself. I had written a flatter line about his only daughter in a professional work. I do not know who was embarrassed.

The most persistent of the anonymous comes from Pass Christian, Texas. In a jargon he philosophized: "When Christy Hewson's arm lost its cunning he pitched his head. But what happens when our writer's arm and head lose their cunning? Which makes a sucker out of him. I've been practicing gripping a pencil with my toes. I don't know when."—Copyright, 1931, Naught Syndicate, Inc.

Illinois Youth Wins National Spelling Title

WASHINGTON, May 27—Ward Randall, 12, bearing in mind that he has $1,000 coming to him, went out today to eat ice cream by way of relaxation after the strain of winning the national spelling championship.

The White Hall, Ill. schoolboy, however, planned to pause in his rounds of the soda fountains to look at the Washington memorial, the Lincoln memorial, and other national show places. Friday he will start home with his classmates. The youngster successfully withstood the attacks of "lateral," "anonymous," "armament," "decadence," "deign," "abscence," and "lessee" hurled at him by the official pronouncer, Samuel M. North, superintendent of Maryland high schools.

Charles Michel, 14, of Bellaire, O., gave him a tough fight, but when the pronouncer came to "foulard" it was all over. Michel left out the "u" and Randall spelled it correct. The next word was easy and he fairly shouted it so anxious was he to "finish strong."

The boy spent many months in preparation for the contest. Night after night he worked with his teacher. With 23 other young students he came to the capital to compete in the national finals. He stood upon the stage for almost four hours spelling clearly and distinctly the words pronounced by North and Prof. Charles E. Hill, dean of George Washington university.

The board and President Rightmire reviewed the addresses of Dr. Miller in Bombay on March 12, 1930. The address, as furnished the board by Dr. Miller, was quoted and compared with a report of the same address appearing in the Bombay Chronicle.

Dr. Miller's version of his speech, the board's statement said, was represented by Dr. Miller as the exact language he used.

"The evidence is," however, that he said a great deal more," the board continued.

Bombay Paper Quoted

"According to this report (by the Bombay Chronicle)," the statement concluded, "there was an American professor, an employee of the university of a state whose nation was at peace with Great Britain, helping to incite the Hindus to civil disobedience."

The board and President Rightmire declared in their statement that in addition he "had been escorted by the Japanese police from a public meeting in Korea where he was making an address on matters forbidden by the Japanese authorities."

The statement, the board and President Rightmire said, concludes the matter from their side and they will engage in no further discussion of the matter.

Marion County Dairyman Is Spokesman for Association Members.

Walter A. Spencer, dairy farmer of Claridon, spokesman for members of the Ohio Farmers' Cooperative Milk association, in an effort to protect the interests of the members while the association is in the process of receivership in federal court at Cleveland, according to International News Service dispatches from Cleveland.

Spencer, acting for all members of the association, has filed an intervening petition and cross bill in the receivership action brought against the association by the federal farm board in an effort to collect $400,000 loaned by the board to the association. Spencer asserts the loan was contrary to law and was not authorized by congress.

The intervening petition seeks to recover for members of the association $840,000 which Spencer asserts they paid for the construction of a distributing point for their milk. This amount is the total value of stock certificates now held by the members, he says.

The petition asks that the judgment taken by the association when it and the Ohio Farmers' Milk Service, Inc., went into receivership a month ago, be vacated and that a settlement be made of the association's debts. Spencer seeks to have the certificates honored ahead of the rest of the equities involved in the receivership action.
